1 A JOINT RESOLUTION RECOGNIZING THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH 2 CAROLINA AT CHAPEL HILL MEN'S BASKETBALL TEAM FOR AN 3 OUTSTANDING SEASON CULMINATING IN THE 2005 NCAA DIVISION I
4 CHAMPIONSHIP.

5 Whereas, the State of North Carolina is home to many talented people and the 6 place of many firsts and achievements, including the first English settlement in the 7 United States, man's first heavier-than-air powered flight, the first state to vote for 8 independence from Great Britain, the first gold nugget discovered in the United States, 9 the first sit-in to spark the civil rights movement, and a sky that is a particularly 10 beautiful shade of blue; and

11 Whereas, the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill is also home to 12 many firsts and achievements, including being established as the first public university 13 in the nation, being rated one of the best public universities in the country, and being 14 acknowledged nationwide for excellence in athletics as well as academics; and

15 Whereas, the men's basketball program in particular has become one of the 16 most renowned programs in the nation, boasting such talented student-athletes as the 40
17 players whose jerseys hang in the rafters of the Dean E. Smith Center; and

18 Whereas, those players include seven former players whose jerseys are retired 19 because they were consensus National Players of the Year – Jack Cobb, George 20 Glamack, Lennie Rosenbluth, Phil Ford, James Worthy, Michael Jordan, and Antwan
21 Jamison – and 33 other honored jerseys which belong to players who were the most 22 valuable players, the most valuable player of an NCAA championship team, ACC 23 Player of the Year, members of a gold-medal-winning Olympic squad, or first- or 24 second-team All-Americans on a generally recognized team; and

25 Whereas, on April 4, 2005, the University of North Carolina men's basketball
26 team won the 2005 National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) Division I 27 Championship by defeating the University of Illinois by a score of 75-70; and

28 Whereas, on the team's road to the final championship game, the Tar Heels
29 defeated the Oakland Golden Grizzlies, Iowa State Cyclones, Villanova Wildcats, 30 Wisconsin Badgers, and the Michigan State Spartans; and

1 Whereas, the Tar Heels finished the 2004-2005 season with a 33-4 record,
2 including 15-0 at home, and the number 1 ranking in the final USA Today/ESPN
3 Coaches Poll; and

4 Whereas, the 2005 championship marks the fourth Division I NCAA
5 championship title and fifth overall championship title for the men's basketball program
6 at UNC-CH; and

7 Whereas, the Tar Heels became the third team in NCAA Division I men's 8 history, and the first team since 1963, to win the NCAA championship and lead the 9 nation in scoring; and

10 Whereas, the 2005 championship continues the tradition of excellence which 11 began in 1924, when under Coach Norman ("Bo") Shepard, the Tar Heels had an 12 undefeated season and were declared national champions by the Helms Foundation; and 13 which was followed by NCAA Division I championships in 1957 under Coach Frank 14 McGuire, and in 1982 and 1993 under Coach Dean Smith; and

15 Whereas, this tradition of excellence is further reflected in the Tar Heels'
16 team performance records – for example, 16 Final Four appearances, the most in NCAA
17 history (and more than any other school within a 14-mile radius of Chapel Hill); 1,860
18 overall wins, second in NCAA history; 24 Atlantic Coast Conference regular-season 19 championships, the most in league history; 15 ACC Tournament titles, tied for the most 20 titles in ACC history; 525 ACC victories, more than any other school in the conference;
21 88 NCAA tournament wins, second in tournament history; 21 Sweet 16 appearances, 22 second-most in NCAA history, and in numerous individual performance records; and

23 Whereas, the success of men's basketball at the University of North Carolina 24 at Chapel Hill is a fitting testimonial and memorial to the program's former players and 25 coaches, including Hall of Fame member and former Head Coach Frank McGuire, who 26 guided the 32-0 Tar Heels to win the national championship title in 1957; and

27 Whereas, the Tar Heels' tradition of success is further exemplified by the 28 many banners hanging in the Dean E. Smith Center reflecting past accomplishments; by 29 the many honors, awards, and other recognitions received; and by the loyalty and 30 support of countless Tar Heel fans in our State and across the world; and

31 Whereas, Carolina has graduated more than 95 percent of men's basketball
32 lettermen over the past 40-plus years and had the highest academic index of the 65
33 teams in the 2005 NCAA Tournament; and

34 Whereas, the 2005 championship is the first NCAA title for Roy Williams, an 35 Asheville, North Carolina, native and a UNC-Chapel Hill alumnus, who is in just his 36 second year as head coach of the Tar Heels; and

37 Whereas, Roy Williams served as an assistant coach at UNC-CH under the 38 legendary Dean Smith and played freshman basketball under Coach Bill Guthridge and,
39 in his 17 years as a college basketball head coach, has led his teams to 16 tournament
40 appearances, five Final Fours, and three NCAA title games; and

41 Whereas, Roy Williams, with a career record of 470-116 as a head coach, has 42 the best winning percentage of any active coach in men's college basketball with at least 43 10 years' experience and the fifth-best in history; and

1 Whereas, Roy Williams has earned National Coach of the Year honors four 2 times and in 2003 received the John R. Wooden Legends of Coaching Award; and

3 Whereas, under Roy Williams' leadership, the members of the men's 4 basketball team are positive role models who have achieved great success both on and 5 off the court; and

6 Whereas, UNC-CH seniors Jawad Williams, Jackie Manuel, Melvin Scott,
7 Charlie Everett, and C.J. Hooker are ending their four years at UNC-CH with the 2005 8 championship; and

9 Whereas, junior Sean May, who scored 26 points and grabbed 10 rebounds in 10 the final game, was named Most Outstanding Player of the tournament; and

11 Whereas, Sean May was joined by juniors Raymond Felton and Rashad 12 McCants on the All-Tournament Team; and

13 Whereas, freshman Marvin Williams was named the Associated Press Rookie 14 of the Year in the ACC; and

15 Whereas, the entire men's basketball team deserves congratulations and 16 appreciation for an outstanding season and for their heart and their hustle in winning the 17 2005 NCAA championship; and

18 Whereas, the Tar Heels' perseverance, teamwork, and ensuing triumph have 19 brought great honor and distinction to the State; and

20 Whereas, the success of this team reflects a tradition of basketball excellence
21 in our State that is valued by so many North Carolinians and is deserving of recognition 22 and appreciation for bringing great honor and distinction to our State; Now, therefore,
